AMPLE EVIDENCE

At the age of 16 the late Supreme Court Justice Louis Brandeis went to Europe with his parents, and while there attended school in Dresden.

Before admitting the prize student from Kentucky, the headmaster of the school demanded certificates of birth and vaccination. Young Brandeis did not have the certificates, but he did have a ready tongue.

"Why do you need the certificates?" he asked.

"As proof, of course," said the headmaster.

"To prove that I was vaccinated you have only to look at my arm," replied Brandeis, "and the fact that I am here to show you the arm should be ample proof that I was born."

He was admitted.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Austro-Hungary declared war on Serbia 30 years ago. Without going into even a summary of all the incidents prior to and following that event, Germany declared war on Russia, Aug. 1, and on France, Aug. 3. Britain declared war on Germany the next evening. Within a week most of the continent was at war, one that drew in much of the world.

This time it is being done all over again, from a slower start but with a much larger part of the world involved. Have nations learned anything since Sept. 1, 1939, that they had failed to learn in the 25 years after July 28, 1914 — anything that may permit the sons of the sons left from this war from becoming victims of devilish intentions perfected to wipe out civilization entirely in 1964? COMMUNICATION

Editor, The News:

Protest against the proposed new World Calendar being advocated by the World Calendar Association, Inc., was made last Sunday by the Belle Glade Seventh-day Adventist church.

In a special service devoted to this subject, Pastor Nevin M. Harlan declared the movement for the new calendar to be anti-religious, pointing out that its adoption "would bring great confusion and perplexity to the people of all religions who conscientiously worship on definitely fixed days of the weekly cycle, whether it be Sunday, Saturday, Friday, or any other day."

The resolution adopted points out that the change in the calendar to adjust a 365 1/4 day year to 364 days to be divided into equal quarters of 91 days each would "irreversibly disturb and

DATES FOR GIRLS AT FSCW?

The controversy about instituting co-education at the University of Florida, occasioned by the diminishing of the male student body there and the overcoming of the campus of the state women's college, has now raised issues which involve long-term considerations. It has been pointed out that the state institutions of higher learning could profitably be merged in their entirety, forming a single state university with some of its schools at Gainesville and some at Tallahassee.

The advantage of having the law school at Tallahassee, where its students would have access to the state records, seems obvious. In general, it would seem that the schools of science could be concentrated in Gainesville, where most of the necessary equipment is already located, while the arts schools could be centered at Tallahassee.

The division of education on the basis of sex is abandoned in Florida, many incidental organizational advantages may be gained.—Jacksonville Journal.

SOUTH SEAS FASHION SHOW

On one of the Pacific Islands, our navy commanding officer decided that the native girl's habit of wearing only grass skirts was definitely bad for military morale. Therefore, he procured some native girl and woman with a "skivvy shirt," the navy undershirt of heavy cotton with quarter-length sleeves. The girls were overjoyed—even asked for two apiece.

Imagine the skipper's astonishment next day when he saw several girls proudly wearing their clean new shirts, each with two round holes cut in the most obvious and appropriate places. — Reader's Digest.

NAME OF ELEANOR

"Ah, my friend," said a gentleman to a newly married acquaintance, "no you are married, at last. Allow me to congratulate you, for I hear you have an excellent and accomplished wife."

"Accomplished? She is indeed," was the enthusiastic reply. "Why, my friend, she is perfectly at home in literature, at home in music, at home in art, at home in science—in short, at home everywhere except—"

"Except at home." — Cleveland News.

Miss Lucille Johnson left Wednesday of this week to spend two weeks' vacation in Ocala, where she will be the guest of Mrs. R. M. McCreary.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Cinematic Chatter
By Malcolm Miller

Everyone appreciates a well written, directed and acted comedy. One with real punch lines that bring forth healthy laughter and situation that "tear down the house" with unrestrained peals of laughter.

That's what you will have with your Sunday-Monday offering at the Prince Theatre when Paulette Goddard, Fred MacMurray, Roland Young, Edward Arnold, Hillary Brooke and Porter Hall, with many other well-known names listed in support of the stars romp through "Standing Room Only."

You can't go wrong on this show and I won't go wrong when I tell you it is my personal opinion that this is one of the best comedies we have played in several weeks, of course with the exception of "Morgan's Creek," which would be hard to beat.

I am listed on a double feature program for Tuesday-Wednesday shows infamous "Dead End Kids," featuring Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall and Bobby Jordan in "Kangaroo Street Boys."

This is listed as a fast action comedy drama of the Big City, racketeers and gangsters, with ample comedy sprinkled into it to hand you plenty of laughs during its unrolling.

On the same program, under a double feature setup, comes one under the title "Monster Maker" which lists an all war master "Horror" cast and the story is said to be wholly absorbing throughout. I don't know a thing about it.

Thursday-Friday is also a double feature program. First picture listed is "Racket Man," with a cast and feature team.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY
By Russell King

All indications point to the conclusion that Florida, from the standpoint of attracting tourists, travel in the postwar period, is no longer what she used to be. In California and Ohio, her chief competitors.

Cheap and speedy air travel with those her in competition with the whole world. A luxurious resort, special excursions at rates so low that they will be in reach of almost every one. Velvet superhighways will better the motorist. The reconstruction program, when it is completed, will be the time to go.

A friend in the travel business recently made a survey in a number of sections of the state to determine what travel plans people were making for the postwar period. He contacted folks of all walks of life, housewives, executives, clerks, stenographers, etc.

Next, Jeanne Bates, Hilda Bennett, Larry Paine and Dottie Powley. They were all very good and the picture should be swift and interesting.

Listed on this same program is Grace McDonald, David Bruce and Lois Collier, assisted by a very interesting looking cast in "She's For Me." This one will be a comedy and there will be nothing during its unrolling. According to all reports available it is a very good show and I believe you will like it.

Saturday lists Chas. Starnett in "Tobacco of the Range," which has all the earmarks of being a very good show and one I am sure will please all the members of the Six Shouters Club.

Singing of the "I'm sorry Paul" you've shown up. I always admired you because you're a fighting man and they are not kind of men. I know you are going to fight this just as hard as you fought for your newspaper and you're going to win. Good luck to you!

Being particularly interested in the promotion of Florida, being the champion of Florida interest. The amount of the survey office little effort to those who assume that we can count on a bumper tourist crop at war's end.

Most every one he contacted was deeply interested in post war travel. Many plan to spend a portion of their savings for a well-earned rest and vacation, and consider the reconstruction program, when it is completed, will be the time to go.

They want to go places and see things. The war has broadened their horizons. They see the world is their oyster and they are eager to go. While there is no concrete interest in Florida and California, they would rather go to the latter than to the former.

Thoughtfully expressed an eager desire to visit Europe, Asia, Africa, Hawaii, Alaska, Central and South America. They want to follow in the footsteps of their parents and grandparents. They want to visit the battle fields of the world and have learned to think far away from home as so many have either there or many ships' decks.

Alert to the opportunity, travel agencies are even now making plans for the tourist travel program. When war ends, free hundreds of ships for peace that employment, many of these will be refitted as comfortable liners to carry world minded tourists.

It is the only way to go at rates they can afford. Airlines will convert giant transport planes into passenger liners to carry world minded tourists. It is the only way to go at rates they can afford.

At this point any part on the globe within easy reach of the traveler. Thus we will find Florida, Silver Springs, Cypress Gardens, Marine Studios, Oriental Gardens, Walden Springs and other outstanding attractions in direct competition with the Pyramids, the Leaning Tower of Pisa, the Eiffel Tower and the Beach of Boulevard.

With not few exceptions, the thousands of service men from other states stationed in Florida have had little good to say of the state in their letters home. Most of them were quartered in unattractive areas, were lonely and homesick, and found little to interest and entertain them. Their unfavorable reaction is natural and Florida, being stationed in other places find their surroundings no more pleasant or inviting as their better home locality.

Florida's reputation and one Florida have made it difficult for them to get about and see much of the state. They have visited the most beautiful spots and world-famous attractions. Their memory of Florida has to do with muddy swamps and palm trees, beach sandbars and mosquito, jammed buses, packed theatres, hotels and restaurants, bars and night clubs. Even clubs U. S. O. and other organizations have done little to win a splendid job, but at best they can only reach a small percentage of those stationed here. The same holds true of the thousands of relatives who have journeyed here to visit their boys in camp. Bus and train travel was crowded and uncomfortable, accommodations poor and hard to find. Little opportunity has been afforded them to see the real Florida.

We find ourselves confronted with a real selling job and it is imperative to note that the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, through its State Advertising and Tourist promotion committee, is taking the lead in this direction. It is a state job and should not be left to be done by enterprising communities or a few alert, progressive attractions.

Jean Cuthbert has returned home from West Palm Beach, where she visited her grandparents, Mrs. J. R. Crumrine, and her aunt, Mrs. Gene Weirbach.

LIONS REPORT

To Lions In Service: As I no longer have the power to have seen else write you, it falls my lot to do so now. We had a very good meeting today. We had the pleasure to take in a new member Mr. Albert Gant, the new chief of police, Frank Roselle welcomed him in; this gives me about fifty on roll, so you see the old club has kept moving along in the right way.

Lion DuBoise had the program for the day. He had a few of the PPA boys, who gave excellent talks on their work, and reported that the Pahokee chapter won high honors at the state meeting just ended.

Lion A. J. Gamel gave the reports of the "Lions International" meeting held in Chicago the first part of the month. We had the largest number of members attending of any club in this district.

Those attending were Bob Hatten, who is a member at larger, Roy Segres, Rupert Mock, H. B. Baxter, A. J. Gamel and myself.

The meeting was a success as far as Florida was concerned. We really advertised the state, especially Pahokee, Sunshine Brant of Tampa was elected International director.

The meeting was very quiet and mostly consisted of post war planning. The Elks had their convention at the same time and as all the Lions were Elks we had plenty of places to go, we crowded a lot in a short while.

We stopped in Rome, Ga., to see Bob Spomer, who was wounded on D-Day; met his wife there and as we were the first to see him, really made him feel good. He is looking good and in high spirits, talked of the battle as though it was a foot ball game. He hopes to be home in a few weeks. Here's hoping to see you fellows soon.

A GOOD NEIGHBOR to have around

Ever since its first track was laid and its first train chugged into the depot, your railroad has been an important part of the life and progress of your community.

Year after year its trains brought in more people, delivered food, building material and other necessities, carried your products to distant markets. It even paid a substantial share of the taxes to support your local schools and government.

Gradually with its help your community grew and improved. Your railroad became a modern double track system over which sleek streamliners brought new crowds of travelers. And then the war came and other forms of transportation were curtailed. But your old railroad neighbor was there, able to shoulder a huge extra volume of freight and passenger traffic. As a result your community went on living much the same as before.

And so down through the years, in peace and war, your railroad has proved a pretty good neighbor to have around—one you will also need as a partner in fighting the economic battles of the future.

Like other neighbors in your community, your railroad is a local property-owner and taxpayer, sharing your dreams of a better tomorrow, and working to make those dreams come true.

TIME TO THINK!

Florida's amazing transition from the quiet of farms and groves into the world's winter playground, back of which grew a vast agricultural empire, has excited the attention of a continent, and contributed to a growth unequalled in the nation. Equally amazing was the manner in which it turned into an armed camp, as whole new cities were built to meet requirements of the armed services. At this time, Florida became in truth the aerial gateway to the world, and stepped out onto the threshold of its industrial future.

Florida, because of her strategic location in regard to world trade, its inimitable year around climate, its abundance and variety of raw materials, its vast reservoir of dependable power service under progressive business management and an alert and united citizenry, has all the elements for success as it advances toward a new adventure in the post-war era—a realization of its industrial possibilities... with its new opportunities... and creation of profitable year around employment.

To reach the goal, Florida must use every advantage and resource at her command. By working together, Florida's industrial future is assured.

As an integral part of the community, Florida Power & Light Company shares in the common success and seeks the common goal. To aid in the industrial development of the state, it can now make available to the cities, towns and communities of its system the same organization of trained consultants that received national recognition for war-time achievements.

The time is here for giving thought to this future. Florida's growth in the past is only a promise of what it can be in the future if we advance together and use the powerful forces already at our command. Think Industrial Florida... then Help Build It.
